PRICE THREE CENTS

VOTERS TO WORK OUT A PUZZLE IN PRIMARY DISPUTE

Democrats and Republicans Have Contests for Almost Every Place.

EXPECT A LIGHT VOTE IN COUNTY

Democrats and republicans of Gettysburg and Adams county will go to the polls Tuesday to endeavor to work out the most intricate political jig-saw puzzle ever presented to voters in the history of Pennsylvania.

Interest locally centers in the republican contests for the congressional nomination in the York-Adams-Franklin district and the election of a chairman for the Adams county republican committee. Emanuel Beck, York, and C. R. Funk, of Waynesboro, are striving for the republican nomination for the congressional nomination, while G. R. Thompson, Gettysburg, and Justice of the Peace John C. Shearer, Gettysburg, are wrestling for the republican chairmanship, now held by Thompson.

Representative Contest
The only local fight confronting democrats is the contest between Dr. H. M. Hartman, Gettysburg, and P. Emory Weaver, Littlestown, for the democratic nomination for state representative, a position now held by the former. At one time during the campaign, Weaver announced that he had withdrawn. However his name appears on the ballot, but he has not made an active campaign on his own behalf.

Congressman Harry L. Haines, of Red Lion, is unopposed for the democratic nomination for congress.

To Elect Committeemen

Both democrats and republicans elect state and county committeemen, and republicans also name a vice chairman of their party, with two candidates, Mrs. M. E. Tipton, Gettysburg, and Miss Helen Lower, Biglerville, in the field.

Contests must be decided by democrats and republicans for every state-wide office for which nominations will be made.

Change Voting Places

Voting places in two districts will be changed for Tuesday's primary. In Mt. Pleasant township, No. 1, voters will cast their ballots at Kohler's school house instead of at Knad's fruit orchard and in East Berlin, the polling place will be the Red Men's hall instead of the church school house.

Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

A light vote is anticipated in Gettysburg and Adams county at tomorrow's primary. Farmers and fruit growers are busy in fields and orchards, according to reports, and are not likely to go to the polls.

Results will be received at the office of the Adams county commissioners in the court house after 7 o'clock, and election board officials are being asked to telephone the returns to that office as soon as they complete their counting.

The pallbearers were Paul Bigham, Francis Spangler, Grant Davis, Francis Strausbaugh, Leo Metz and Wilbur Rentzell.

Girls Complete Nurses' Course

Miss Nellie Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Miller, South Washington street, is a member of the class of nurses which was graduated several days ago from the nurses training school of St. Joseph's hospital, Baltimore. Miss Miller is a graduate of Gettysburg high school with the class of 1930.

Miss Marie Frommeyer, a member of the same class at Gettysburg high, also graduated from St. Joseph's training school this year. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Frommeyer, formerly residents along the Harrisburg road.

Beck Candidate For Nomination As Congressman

LIEUT. E. C. BECK

As one of two candidates for the nomination in the republican primary Tuesday for the office of congressman from the Adams-York-Franklin district, Lieutenant Emanuel C. Beck, 529 Madison avenue, York, has made an active campaign throughout the district, and is confident of victory. He is opposed in the primary by Charles R. Funk, of Waynesboro. The winner in the primary will enter the general election in November as the opponent of Congressman Harry L. Haines, who has no opposition for the renomination in the democratic primary.

Mother and Daughter Are Killed in Motor Accident Sunday Night

44-Year-Old York County Woman Dies of Broken Neck and Her 16-Year-Old Daughter Is Killed After Suffering Fractured Skull and Crushed Chest.

MACHINE STRUCK BY ANOTHER CAR AND THEN CRASHES TELEPHONE POLE

Mrs. Leah Warner, 44, York R. D. 7, and her daughter, Miss Henrietta Warner, 16, were killed and three other occupants of the car in which they were riding were injured in an automobile accident on the Lincoln highway, near Graeffenburg Inn, west of here, at 7:30 o'clock, Sunday evening.

The injured are: John Warner, 45, husband of the dead woman, who suffered lacerations about the head and face.

Miss Anna Toomey, 18, York R. 7, who suffered a back injury, the extent of which has not yet been determined.

Russell L. Warner, 19, son of the dead woman, who suffered minor injuries.

Girl Killed Instantly

Miss Warner was killed instantly, death having been caused by a fractured skull, a crushed chest and internal injuries.

Her mother died as she was being admitted to the Chambersburg hospital. Mrs. Warner's death was caused by a broken neck.

The accident occurred just east of the gasoline service station at Graeffenburg Inn in Adams county.

The Warners and Miss Toomey were returning to their homes after a Sunday afternoon automobile ride and picnic. Russell Warner was driving the machine, an old model, air-cooled car with a wooden chassis.

Just prior to the accident, Mrs. Pearl K. Prowell, of York, traveling west on the highway, stopped to make a left turn into a private road. Her car was followed by a machine, driven by Mrs. Marion Keller, also of York, who also stopped to follow Mrs. Prowell into the private road.

With the York women's cars stopped on the highway, John I. Nute, of Chambersburg, approached from the rear, traveling west.

Struck by Machine
According to Sergeant T. N. Boate, of the local sub-station of the state motor patrol, who, together with Corporal Shuyler, of the Chambersburg sub-station, investigated the crash. Nute was unable to stop behind Mrs. Keller's car and swerved his machine to the left.

Nute's machine struck the left side of Warner's car, causing the right rear wheel to collapse.

The Warner car left the highway, ran a distance of about 20 feet, sideswiped a telephone pole and upset. In the crash, the top of the York county car was sheared off.

Mrs. Warner was thrown out of the machine when it upset, but the other four occupants were caught in the wreckage.

To Conduct Inquests
Russell Warner dragged his father and Miss Toomey from the wreckage, and then removed the body of his sister.

The Chambersburg ambulance removed Warner, his son, Miss Toomey and Mrs. Warner to the Chambersburg hospital. Young Warner received treatment there, but was afterward discharged as a patient.

Dr. Edgar A. Miller, Adams county coroner, was notified and went to the scene of the accident, where he conducted a preliminary investigation. He announced that an inquest into the death of Miss Warner would be held later.

Dr. A. W. Thrush, Franklin county coroner, will hold an inquest into the death of Mrs. Warner because her death occurred in his jurisdiction.

After the collision, the guests attended the three-act play, "Disraeli," presented by the Owl and Nightingale dramatic club. The play was skilfully enacted and well received by the large audience.

During the afternoon, the mothers and their sons attended the Gettysburg-Lebanon Valley baseball game, which was won by the Bullets, 12 to 6. A review of the college R. O. T. C. battalion also was staged, Saturday afternoon.

Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock, a special Mothers' Day service was held at Brua chapel. The chapel was crowded for the service at which Dr. W. E. Tilberg, dean of the college, presided and read the Scripture. Prayer was offered by Dr. M. H. Valentine, professor emeritus of English Bible, after which an octet sang "Sanctus."

Hanson Gives Sermon
Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of the college, who preached the sermon at the service, said, "Mothers' Day is an occasion when every son and daughter should say to their mothers, 'I love you.'"

"The things we do not say are the things the world needs most today. If you love your mothers, say so, and mothers, if you love your sons, say so."

"This should be a day of dedication and remembrance, a day for escape from drudgery and pettiness."

San Francisco, May 14 (AP)—Twenty-two hours after the broken body of Miss Louise Jeppesen, 23, Utah girl, was found in Golden Gate park, Millard Hickman, port engineer for the Matson Navigation company, was booked by police on a murder charge today.

San Francisco, May 14 (AP)—A well-dressed, red-haired young woman of striking appearance was found slain Sunday in Golden Gate park. She had been attacked and strangled with her own belt. Her skull had been crushed.

Police discovered only three clues that might lead to the identity of the victim, who evidently had been slain in the early morning hours.

In one of her shoes was written the name "Louise Jeppesen," and the name "Louise" also was carved on the back of a small watch she wore. Whether this was the girl's name was not ascertained at once, however.

Robbery Motive Discarded A diamond engagement ring was regarded as still another clue by police. They discarded robbery as a motive for the slaying because neither it nor the watch had been taken.

The body was discovered shortly after 4:30 a. m., by John C. Gentry, a stableman on his way to work through the park. It was lying in a dark underpass at the park's lower west end.

Evidence Of Violent Struggle Evidence of a terrific struggle was found near the entrance of the underpass. A large clump of ferns had been beaten down, and marks of heavy heels showed in the ground.

Officers said they believed that it was there that the attack had occurred and that the slayer then had dragged the girl, who seemed not more than 20 years old, into the underpass, where she was slain.

The Roosevelt birthday balls held last January netted exactly $1,003,030.08. Kitchen Shower Is Given For Engaged County Couple

A kitchen shower for Miss Cora Boyer and Prof. J. Warren Martin, whose engagement was announced several months ago, was held Friday night at the El Vista orchards home of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Benner, near Fairfield.

The guests assembled in Br. Benner's storage room, the walls of which were decorated with dogwood blossoms and Judas tree bloom. Conspicuous on one of the walls were the initials of the bride-to-be, fashioned of white blossoms. A part of the evening was spent playing games.

After all guests had arrived Miss Boyer and Mr. Martin, in the center of the room, opened and displayed the gifts.

Miss Boyer, whose home is at Biglerville, lives at present at Orrtanna where she holds the position of postal clerk in the Orrtanna post office and also a clerkship with the Orrtanna Canning company.

Mr. Martin has been a teacher in the Fairfield schools for the past twelve years and also is coach of the high school baseball team. The members of the 1934 baseball squad presented the young couple with a gift.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

St. Paul, May 14.—An important government witness in the case of three defendants charged with harboring John Dillinger have disappeared and today, 24 hours before the scheduled opening of the trial, the department of justice was frantically hunting for her.

The object of the search is Mrs. Dolores Smart, 22, Minneapolis, blond, who was released on her own recognition to appear at the trial of Evelyn Frechette, half-breed Indian sweetheart of the outlaw-killer, Dr. Clayton May, of Minneapolis, and his nurse, Mrs. Augusta Selt.

The government, it was learned from a reliable source, had "banked" or Mrs. Smart's testimony as one of the strong links in a chain of evidence against Doctor May and Mrs. Selt.

STOCK REPORT

New York, May 14 (AP).—Stock market sentiment generally was tinged with indigo today and prices, as a whole, pointed downward.

Shares of Allied Chemical, at the worst, were off around eight points. Continental Can lost four. American Telephone was resistant, as were a number of other utilities. Issues down one to two or more included American Can, Case, U. S. Steel, Dupont, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Sears Roebuck, Celanese, American Smelting and Kennecott.

Both Chrysler and General Motors were a bit strong. The rails held their decline to fractions, as did most of the oils.

MARKS TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF PASTORATE

Rev. Dr. O. D. Coble
Observes Tenth Anniversary as Bendersville Pastor.

SELECTS TEXT FROM PSALM 90

The Rev. O. D. Coble celebrated the tenth anniversary of his pastorate of the Bendersville Lutheran church charge Sunday morning, using as his sermon "As Yesterday."

His text was taken from Psalm 90:4, "For a thousand years in thy sight are but as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night."

During his pastorate at the Bendersville charge, the Rev. Dr. Coble admitted 301 new members. He officiated at thirty-five weddings and baptized seventy-three infants. One hundred and one burials, less than half of whom were members of the church, were made by the Rev. Dr. Coble. Over $20,000 was spent on improvements and a total of $29,850 collected.

The Rev. Dr. Coble said, in part, "Ten years have passed since I assumed my duties as your pastor. In the words of the psalmist, it is as yesterday." It is hard to conceive of passing the ten initial years of one's ministry under more pleasant circumstances. I had much to learn. You had much to give. We grew together. At times there may have been minor differences, but we always pulled together. This worshipful church is the product of mutual effort.

"As Yesterday"

"Looking back even 'as yesterday,' one is amazed at the things which have come to pass. Little did we think that after ten years we would still be serving as pastor and people. Ten years of Christian fellowship are rich in meaning. We learned to know, understand and appreciate one another. We have shared your joys and sorrows. We have learned at the altar of experience. But we would not go back. We would rather go on with you whether the road we journey together is long or short. At the end of that road may it be 'as yesterday,' the yesterday of cherished memories."

Continuing the Rev. Dr. Coble said, "We are grateful for the splendid cooperation and hearty response given us by the members of the three congregations during the years of my pastorate, the longest in the history of the charge. Whatever you have gained from contact with us, ours has been the richer experience. It is our prayer that pastor and people alike have grown in Christian grace. Christ alone is the great example."

"If we have sacrificed we have gained. We have exchanged the lesser for the greater. 'He that loseth his life for my sake shall find it.' The Christian can't lose. He must win. Christianity does not impoverish. It leavens life and transforms the commonplace into the noble and beautiful. Christianity is the sole hope of the world. We dare not fail."

done by the district during the year. Mt. Hope United Brethren is the only school reporting as working under Standard B; Zion Lutheran, Fairfield, is the only school holding monthly workers' conferences.

Increase Payments

Out of the 10 schools in the district only four emphasize missionary teaching and four emphasize temperance. There have been 29 accessions to church from Sunday school, as against 26 last year, and an increase in enrollment of 58 was reported. There is one new superintendent in the district, John M. Myers, Marsh Creek Brethren, and one new minister, the Rev. Palmer Slenker, Mt. Hope United Brethren and Mt. Carmel United Brethren.

T. J. Winebrenner, county treasurer, asked the schools to increase their payments this year if possible and Dr. M. Hadwin Fischer spoke concerning the Leadership Training school to be held in the Lutheran theological seminary this fall and the courses offered for all ages at Camp Nawakwa.

Evening Session

The evening session, held at 7:30 o'clock, is known as the young people's evening. The program opened with songs by a chorus of 65 young people from the schools of the district, directed by Prof. L. J. Fitzpatrick, principal of the Fairfield schools. An orchestra of stringed instruments from Gettysburg college with piano accompaniment gave several selections. The Scripture reading was by Robert Geigley, and prayer by the Rev. C. M. Coffelt.

The afternoon session was concluded by the benediction pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Coffelt.

The ship carried 355 pounds of mail and eighty-five pounds of express. T. W. A. officials said, "We can now link the Atlantic and the Pacific coast together in only twelve hours' transit time," Frye commented, "and the trip, such as the ones we have just completed, can be accomplished just as successfully at night as in the day-time."

Defense Question Threatens To Cause Crisis in Belgium

Brussels, May 14 (AP).—The controversy over whether Belgium shall prepare to defend her border to the last man had reached a point Sunday which threatened an open break between the government and the army.

Authoritative sources said Albert Devez, defense minister, is ready to demand that General Nuyten, chief of the army staff, submit to the government's plans for defense against invasion or resign his post.

The general, who claims the support of specialists in military tactics, objects to the government plan as "impracticable," declaring that the present army could not possibly defend the 160-mile eastern border over which German troops poured in 1914.

The government during the last 15 months has spent $50,000,000 in carrying out its plans for fortifying the border, and is committed to the "last man defense" policy.

General Nuyten and his associates stand out for the "fighting retreat" tactics adopted in the World war, depending on the British for aid.

The government plan was authoritatively stated not to involve an expectation of prompt aid from France in event of an invasion.

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE

by Walter C. Brown

SYNOPSIS: Apparently the policeman and the stranger found dead in the Duffresne's breakfast room have shot each other, and apparently the stranger is he who has been writing threatening letters to Duffresne. But strange strands of suspicion attach to most of the persons in the house, and Sergeant Harper cannot believe in the obvious solution. He and Lafferty begin sorting out the strands.

Chapter 17 TRACKS IN SNOW

Sergeant Harper spread out a blank piece of paper and drew a hasty, but unrecognizable, plan of the ground floor of the Duffresne mansion, with the adjacent grounds. All windows and doors were designated. "Now before we look at those reports, let's get this matter of the footprints in the snow firmly on our heads. I've made a complete circuit of the house. I'll mark in the tracks as I tell you about them, then you can go out yourself and check over my work before the sun gets busy and destroys them.

"First, here is the back of the house. There are two doors, both giving onto a porch. There are two sets of heavily-marked tracks, leading from the side door of the garage building to the back door of this house.

"They were made by Mr. and Mrs. Whitmore, coming over in response to Andrews' call. There are no other footprints at the back of the house and, naturally, there are none in the snow to either the right or the left side of the house.

"Secondly, there is a confusion of tracks from the pavement to the front door. There is one set, filled in and almost covered by the later snow. Mixed in with these are two sets of fresher tracks, partly filled in. The first set is the original trail left by Hamill; the second set were made by Connally and Hilleary as they followed.

"Then there is a second group, fortunately to one side of the others. They were made by Clymer, Smith, Doyle and myself, the second group to arrive on the scene. After that I had Connally shovel a path and every one entering or leaving has had to use the path.

"Furthermore, it was Connally who actually traced Hamill's footprints from the call-box and he swears that when he and Hilleary arrived here there was one, and only one, set of prints leading up to the door.

"This gives us an accounting for every single person who entered this house before the path was cleared, except the unidentified man. He must have come in before the snow started, or before it was deep enough to retain the impression of a footprint.

"We know the snow started falling about half-past three yesterday afternoon, but it didn't really begin snowing heavily until an hour or so later. It is almost certain that this man was in the house before half-past five. Otherwise, shapeless, but noticeable, ridges would have been left in the snow. Officer Hamill must have been killed as soon as he entered this room. Miller puts the hour of his death as between seven and nine.

"As you see, that leaves the most important questions unanswered. When and why did the murdered man break in? What drew Hamill's attention to this house? We have the record of all who entered this house last night between, say, half-past five and half-past ten, always excepting our mysterious dead man. As far as I can see it's an unassailable record and it doesn't furnish much ground for the suspicion that all it is not as it seems on the surface."

"Do you feel sure that these marks in the snow weren't tampered with?" asked Lafferty. "Can you rely on them entirely?"

"I can see no reason for doubt," Harper replied. "You cannot walk through snow of any depth without leaving tracks. Try it, and see for yourself. The snow can go on for hours after a track has been made and it will still be visible. That original, unbroken surface of a fall of snow cannot be duplicated."

"Hold on a minute," Lafferty interjected, "couldn't some one tread in previously made tracks and get out that way?"

Harper shook his head. "One look at Hamill's marks was done, I know that trick has been used, but I'll swear it didn't happen in this instance. I've looked at these marks very carefully and they are absolutely bona fide. Not even a cat walked across those grounds last night."

Lafferty thought it over. "Well, we went over every hole and corner of this house last night and there was no one in hiding, waiting for a chance to sneak out. So, if no one left the house after the shooting, and no one was in the house when we searched it, there's an end of the matter."

Harper smiled doggedly. "No, that's not the end of the matter. I already have hints of certain things that require explaining. We're going to sit down in this room and reconstruct this affair, movement by movement. It is really an unforeseen and aimless business, then every single bit of evidence we have gathered will fit into place—if it does not, then something has been tampered with."

"But who could have tampered with it? This room has been un-

The Gettysburg firemen's baseball team went into undisputed possession of first place in the county circuit by walloping East Berlin on the local field, Saturday afternoon, before a good sized crowd, 10-5.

Bendersville nipped Cashtown in a fast contest at Bendersville, 4-2, and Arendtsville crushed York Springs, at Arendtsville, 16-1. Every man in the Gettysburg lineup secured one or more safeties in the game Saturday afternoon, Bud Knox rapping out two doubles to lead the attack. Six damaging errors by the East Berlin defense enabled the locals to coast in to a comparative easy win.

Charlie Fleming went the route for Gettysburg and was never in danger.

A three-run rally by Bendersville in the second inning proved sufficient for the upper county team to down Cashtown. Baumgardner and Starnor hooked up in a fine pitching duel that was played in the last time of one hour and a half.

Jake Herman pitched Arendtsville to an easy conquest over York Springs, the apple pickers socking the offerings of Gleim and Martin all over the lot. Herman also connected for a home run.

Pass Receivers Promise Thrills

Lincoln, Neb. (AP)—A pair of leaping pass-snatchers may play havoc with opponents of the University of Nebraska football team next fall.

A bright spot of the Cornhuskers' spring grid practice was the work of Lester McDonald and Lloyd Cardwell, lanky freshmen. Their pass-catching kept the Blues, mostly yearlings, in the dunning with the varsity in practice, and in the final spring tilt, gave the Blues a victory over the veterans.

MAROON TRACK ACES CAPTURE SCHOOL TITLE

Southern Pennsylvania Interscholastic Track Meet Won Saturday.

Gettysburg high school's track team won its third consecutive Southern Pennsylvania interscholastic conference title Saturday afternoon by amassing a total of 62½ points in the annual meet held here.

PREP WHACKS CARSON LONG

Academy Nine Whips Out 11 To 3 Victory for Fifth Win of Season.

Gettysburg academy stepped into an early lead and not only maintained that lead, but increased it, to send cadets of Carson Long Military academy down to defeat to the tune of 11-3. This victory makes it five in a row for Prep, who lost its first game of the season to Harrisburg academy in the last inning.

The soldiers would have done better had they been steadier at bat, and much heavier at the plate, the local team out-batting them 12 hits to five.

The work of the home team on the bags was nothing short of remarkable. Four cadets were caught at third by long and accurate pegs from the outfielders, which materially cut down the score of the Gettysburg College Nine Defeats Lebanon Valley Crew Here 12 to 6.

Belting over six runs in a hectic first inning attack, the Gettysburg college baseball team defeated Lebanon Valley here in a conference game, Saturday afternoon, before a large Mothers' day crowd, 12-6.

visitors. The local boys rang up some beautiful extra-base blows, Longanecker having a home run; Vitzel a triple and a double, and Yevak a double. Both Vitzel and Yevak got three hits out of four times at the plate, and one of the bingles by Yevak should have been a home run, but it hit a tree in deep center, and bounded back, and he was held to a double.

The next game for the academy is with York Collegiate institute at York, Friday. The boys from Y. C. I. are anxious to get another try at the home team in order to make up for the 10-2 defeat handed them here at Gettysburg two weeks ago.

Olkewicz and Morris each securing three hits.

Johnny Cico hit a long homerun to centerfield in the initial stanza with two pals on base.

Lebanon Valley fought an uphill battle and a 4-run rally in the sixth enabled the visitors to deadlock the score at 6-all. However, the Plankmen came right back to score a trio of runs in their half of the sixth and then added another trio in the seventh.

Johnny Maust started on the knoll for the locals but gave way to Lefty Bollinger.

The victory was the locals' third conference win in four starts and marked their sixth triumph in eight games.

Gopher Football Star in Baseball

Minneapolis (AP)—The gridiron, for the time being, has been forsaken by Babe LeVoor for the baseball diamond.

While his football mates go through the grind of spring practice, LeVoor, who played both full-back and quarterback last fall for the University of Minnesota, is cavorting on the diamond.

He is playing short for the Gopher nine, filling the shoes of Henry Westby, who is being tried out by the Cincinnati Reds.

The Muskogee club in the Western association, a Detroit farm, will be known as the "Bluebirds."

"SHOPPING...THERE'S A REAL TEST OF NERVES, TOO, MR. BUCK!"

Listen to what Mrs. Abbot J. Copeland has to say on shopping—and nerves:

"There's no doubt in the world that healthy nerves are vital to a man who goes out and catches wild animals alive. But take it from a busy wife and mother who spends many hours each week searching through the stores—anxious to make the family budget reach as far as possible—you need healthy nerves to be a shopper, too! Tramping through miles and miles of aisles...pricing, comparing, judging quality and values...well, that's a test of anyone's nerves. 'Nerves' don't ever bother me, though. As for cigarettes, I smoke Camels. They don't upset my nerves. And I have never tasted such flavor and mildness."

Frank Buck, who has brought back many tons of wild cargo from the jungles of Asia, says:

"It takes healthy nerves to bring 'em back alive. It's a job packed with thrills, excitement and real danger. I never would have been able to populate half the zoos in this country, cross the Pacific 20 times with tons of savage live cargo, and save my own life a half dozen times by quick action if I didn't have healthy nerves. I am a heavy smoker. I prefer Camels, knowing that I can safely smoke all I want without upsetting my nerves."

How Are YOUR Nerves?

Jangled nerves are apt to visit us all. You know the signs—telephone slamming, frowning, hot words that wound others, worrying and fuming over trifles.

If you are inclined toward jumpy nerves check up now—on your eating and sleeping, your habits of work and play. Make Camels your cigarette. They never get on your nerves.

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS than any other popular brand.

If you have experienced the aftertaste often associated with flat-t

I speak not by commandment, but by occasion of the forwardness of others, and to prove the sincerity of your love.

For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich.

And herein I give my advice:
for this is expedient for you, who have begun before, not only to do,
but also to be forward a year ago.

Now therefore perform the doing of it; that as there was a readiness to will, so there may be a performance also out of that which ye have.

For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.

For I mean not that other men
be eased, and ye burdened:

But by an equality, that now at this time your abundance may be a supply for their want, that their abundance also may be a supply for your want; that there may be equality:

As it is written, He that had gathered much had nothing over;
and he that had gathered little had no lack.

height was 2 1/4 miles. He landed safely a few minutes before 7—traveling, it was calculated, about 50 miles in 3 hours. He went across the Chesapeake bay, a distance of 14 miles, in 17 minutes. At 40 minutes after 5, Mr. Wills encountered a violent snow storm, with the thermometer down to 34°. Besides being obliged to endure its peltings,
he was subjected to a thorough drenching from the melted snow, which thawed as it fell on the balloon, and ran down from its neck
into the car immediately under it.
At the same time also, a body of clouds passed beneath him, and he lost sight of the earth altogether.
The storm, however, soon passed off,
and except the drenching, left him unharmful. Mr. Wills is a young mechanic of Baltimore.

The number of petitioners to congress in favor of a restoration of the deposits, or a re-charter of the bank, is officially stated at 114,000—whilst the number approving the president's course is only 8,000.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

An earnest effort is being made for the permanent endowment of Pennsylvania college, at this place.
One hundred thousand dollars is required for the purpose. C. A.
Morris, Esq., of York, has subscribed
$1,000 to the fund.

Property Sold.—Messrs. Shryock and McConaughy sold a tract of land a few days ago, about 6 acres,
south of town for $125 per acre.—
Jacob Benner purchaser.

Mr. John Hoke has sold about 4 acres of ground near the college to Mr. A. Scott, (merchant) for $300
cash.

The "Old Court House" is down to the basement, and nothing meets the eye but large piles of brick and rubbish. The prospect now presents a rather odd appearance to us who have been looking upon it all our lives. The plastering is completed in the new house, and the public officers expect to remove in a few weeks.

Married.—In Arendtsville, on the 10th inst., by the Rev. L. J. Bell, Mr.
Adam Myers, of East Berlin, to Miss Savilla Weigle, daughter of John Weigle, Esq., of the vicinity of Bendersville.

On the 5th inst., by the Rev. J.
Sherfy, Mr. George Hutchinson, of Cumberland county, to Miss Anna
Drucilla Linn, of this county.

On the 3d inst., by the Rev. J.
Sechler, the Rev. Walter E. Krebs, of Emmitsburg, to Isabella S., daughter of Mr. Enock Lefever, of Union township.

On the 1st inst., at the Mountain church, by the Rev. B. A. Shorb, Mr. Leonard Hyle, of Franklin township, to Miss Eva M. Bouch, of this place.

On Thursday, the 12th inst., by the Rev. J. C. Weidner, Mr. Daniel Delap to Miss Lydia Slaybaugh, both of this county.

On Tuesday, by the Rev. G. P.
Van Wyck, Mr. Albert C. Gardner,
of Petersburg, (Y. S.) to Maggie W., daughter of the editor of this paper.

Accidents.—On Friday last, a young man named Peters, in the employ of Sheads, Beuhler & Kurtz, was seriously injured by being thrown from the wagon by the viciousness of the animal, he was driving. One of the bones of his jaw was broken, and he received other very severe cuts and bruises.

On the same day Mr. Jacob Brinkerhoff was struck in the leg by a horse which he was driving, and an artery severed, causing considerable loss of blood. He did not receive much injury otherwise.

At the last court, A. H. Dill, Esq., was, on motion of W. M. McClellan, Esq., admitted to practice in the several courts of this county. He appears to be a young man of worth and we hope he may meet with success in his profession.

Wm. McSherry, Esq., has resigned the office of president of the Little-town railroad, and Joseph Pink,
Esq., has been chosen his successor.
The business of the road has exceeded expectation.

Today's Talk
—By George Matthew Adams—
BLOWS

MR. WILL DURANT, the famous thinker and writer on philosophy, gave a grand talk in New York the other day. Three words which he uttered struck me with peculiar force. "Only blows educate," he said.

Civilization has a hard time surviving when it gets to the point where there is so much gained that it doesn't know what to do with it. Then jealousy, competition and hatred begin—and wars all too frequently.

During the pioneer days of any human development people are so busy thinking out ways of life, and a fair existence, that they have no time to grow envious of their neighbor or to plan out how to be a bigger figure than he. Their only thought is to establish something and then to pass it on for better development and improvement.

When wealth and ease arrive people grow soft and boastful and selffish. Their forefathers alone took the blows—and became educated!

The past few bitter years have done a great deal of good in the world, regardless of the disappointment and suffering that they have entailed.
The blows that have come to us all have educated us to a higher appreciation of the values of life and to the duty we owe to our fellowmen.

There isn't so much equality in the world as many would have us believe. Everything has to be fought for—that is, if it is worth fighting for in the first place. Each of us must take blow after blow. Some of these blows wake us up, some spur us on, and others compel us to think. A good thing all along the line—these blows.

We often hear the question: "Can he take it?" Well, none of us know just how much punishment we can take until the punishment comes. The fighters in the ring go in confident—both of them. But only one of them wins—the one who can take the heaviest blows.

The fit and the alert alone survive. They know how to handle blows and put them to use. Educated people are always well scared up!

CONGRESSMAN HELPS FRIENDS

Praise of Work of Colleagues Made by Members to Aid in Elections.

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington.—With the present session of congress drawing near its close and election time at hand,
the practice known on capitol hill
as "helping a friend" is going at full blast.

"Helping a friend" is the act of one member of congress arising on the floor and talking for the Congressional Record in praise of the "hard-working, conscientious and statesmanlike" colleague who perhaps is having a little tough sledding back home in trying to return for another term.

There are lots of them in such a fix this year, especially in the house.

Primary campaigns have been under way since early spring and will continue through the summer months into the fall in some states.

Every little bit helps, particularly contributions of praise from a colleague who has had opportunity to see you in action on the firing line
in Washington.

With "Applause" Here's a typical illustration of how it's worked, recently put in the Record by a southern member of the house:

"Dear Tom: When you go home I want you to tell those ex-service men for me that they will make a serious mistake if they turn against you after all you have done for them."

This was signed by the chairman of the house committee on World war veterans' legislation.

And another, taken from the speech of a Missouri member of the house in which he referred to a colleague from Texas:

"Speaking in behalf of the people of my state—and expressing, I am certain, the sentiments of those of every state in the union—I desire to thank the citizens of the . . .
district of Texas for sending . . .
here and keeping him here
all these years."

And to make it all the more impressive the word "applause" is bracketed at the conclusion of such tributes.

"Helping A Friend"

The member so praised is free to have such personal tributes printed in any quantities he desires and "franked" to his constituents. If he doesn't care to go to that trouble or expense, there it is in the Record where all may see or where it can be read with pardonable pride when the time for taking the stump rolls around.

Just the other day, when everybody in the house was anxious to get to consideration of the important stock market control bill, a democrat felt the urge to "help a friend." Snell, the republican leader, gallantly acquiesced.

"I want it understood, however," he said, "that I know it is a purely political speech, and if someone on this side should want to make one a little later, I hope there will be no objection from the democratic side of the house."

boxing crown away from him, has

A belt that ends on each side of the front just where the slender-

for making a woman who has to consider lines, look her best. With warm weather on the way, a few light colored frocks must be put in work—and light colors make a womdesigned—like this one—to offset that effect. This frock is a safe and satisfactory choice for a print with a light ground, or a plain fabric in a lovely summer coloring.

Pattern 9921 may be ordered only

A SMALL TOWN
LASS SUCCEEDS

Fiction Story. Come True, in Julian Graham's Climb
To Stardom.

By ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—The story of Julian Graham has been written so often in fiction that it was bound to come true some day.

It's a stock story, so moth-eaten that nobody believes it. Even though it has come true. Living up to all standards and specifications of fiction, many won't believe it.

Here it is:
Small-town beauty (Sistersville,
W. Va., has a population of about 3,000) leaves home for an afternoon party and sets out instead for Hollywood, city of dreams. Thoughtfully, she wires mother not to worry.
This beauty is not unprepared for the trials and heart-break of movieland. She had read movie magazines faithfully since childhood, hence knows all about it and what to expect. But relentless ambition drives her on.

Alone In Hollywood

Beauty descends upon Hollywood.
She knows nobody, can't get into studios. She sings, but clubs and radio stations have plenty of singers already. She meets big, bad wolves who make promises, but beauty has read about big bad wolves, too. She runs faster than the three little pigs.

Her money runs out, but is replenished from home. Still, discouragement mounts. In a fit of gloom she decides "to end it all."

The hospital. Her picture—and story—in the papers. A producer, glancing the picture and caption as he steps from an elevator, has-tens to the hospital. He leaves a note, promising aid. (Incidentally,
her picture gets into the papers
again, this time with the producer beside her. This is a realistic touch neglected by the fictioneers.)

The happy ending, of course, is a contract. Our beauty, Julian Graham, is ecstatically happy. She is a movie actress. She will talk at length about her experience, seriously advising young girls not to attempt Hollywood as she did, without entree to the studios.

One of the first things she did was to invade the music department to show them she could sing.
Now every time her phone rings she hopes it means she is cast in a film. She doesn't expect to play "atmosphere" much longer.

She is no longer Julian, but Julia.

And Hollywood expects an epidemic of similar cases—just another cycle!

STRUGGLE

Ever and ever the world rolls on,
And ever man's lot must be
To bear some care till the day be gone

And nighttime sets him free.

For whatever the goal that he would attain

He must reach it through struggle
and loss and pain.

Never by law will trouble be stopped.

Or the hand of death be stayed,
Burdens can never be wholly dropped.

Although easier life be made.
For man must labor and women
must spin,

For the happiness which they hope
to win.

Change may fashion its customs
new,

But ever life will remain
A dream of something man hopes
to do,

And an inch of growth to gain.

Fashion Hints

Baronne Rothschild

Wears Two-Tone Frock

Paris (AP)—The Baronne Robert C. Rothschild is among Parisians who are wearing two-toned frocks this season. She attended a cocktail party wearing a frock of black crepe with white sleeves. With it she wore a black wool coat collared in silver fox and a little black felt hat.

Ina Claire Wears

All-Black Ensemble

Paris (AP)—Ina Claire, blonde stage star famous for her chic, wears a dashing, all-black, Molyneux ensemble while here this spring. The frock of black wool buttons right down the back and is finished with a cluster of tucks at the vee neckline. With it goes a loose three-quarter length coat of the same fabric which buttons straight up the front and is finished with a small collar and big patch pockets.

Paris (AP)—Mary McCormic, opera singer and former wife of Prince Serge Mdivani, who has been here, wears a cluster of flame red poppies at the waistline of a ruffling black tulle evening frock. The gown, designed by Molyneux, is fashioned with a wide shoulder line which covers the upper part of the arm, a slender hip and a full, swishing lower skirt.

Paris (AP)—Navy blue holds its own wherever fashionable teatime crowds gather. Lady Mendil (the former Elsie de Wolfe) has a navy blue marocain costume which combines a simple frock with a three-quarter-length coat and Lady Abby wears a blue and white checked tulle frock woven with a silver thread with a long navy blue wool coat.

Paris (AP)—Pale yellow and navy blue make the color combination for a Molyneux costume worn by Mrs. Jesse Straus, wife of the American ambassador to France. The frock of navy blue alpaca, trimmed with a jabot lined with white pique, is worn with a three-quarter-length coat of pale yellow wool.

Dewey Forsees Renomination as Secretary of Internal Affairs

Harrisburg, May 14—Philip H. Dewey, secretary of internal affairs of Pennsylvania, and candidate for renomination on the republican ticket, today expressed confidence in the outcome of his campaign. He declared that promises of support which have been reaching him have assured him a victory.

Mr. Dewey has received the endorsement of various business and trades organizations, the Pennsylvania state grange, fraternal organizations and thousands of individuals in the commonwealth because of the manner in which he has handled the affairs of his department. Faced with the necessity for economy immediately upon taking the office, Secretary Dewey developed plans so that the department could function in its every activity but with reduced appropriations. His success in the undertaking gained for him immediately the good will and endorsement of the public.

The popularity of Mr. Dewey in Pennsylvania was attested in the campaign four years ago when he was elected secretary of internal affairs with a majority of more than 800,000 votes. During his term he has made additional friends who are interested in seeing him return to the office.

Secretary Dewey, whose home is in Tioga county, has long been interested in public affairs. A farmer and a lumberman, he was elected a township supervisor in his home district before he was 30 years old. Later he was elected a Tioga county commissioner and he also served as president of both the state association of county commissioners and the state association of township supervisors. He represented Tioga county in the legislature and his interest in public affairs won for him a high standing in the Pennsylvania state grange. He served in various capacities in that state-wide organization and finally was elected master. During the administration of former Governor John S. Fisher, Secretary Dewey served the commonwealth as manager of the state workmen's insurance fund and records show that he established a precedent for premium income and dividends paid to policy holders.

At the time of the attack Johnson was dozing in the sun on a small platform adjoining the Newbold garage. His assailants crept from a parked automobile to within a few feet of the victim, and opened fire without warning.

County officials said that a statement by Johnson, relating how Bart David, Angelo Rosegrant, Felix McDonald and another man held Dr. Kelley captive in the negro's small farm house in St. Louis county, was submitted to the grand jury which indicted the six persons.

Towel Flappers' Work Menaced

Uxbridge, England (AP)—This mechanical age finally has invaded the sacred precincts of boxing, last of man's primitive sports.

"I got the recipe from an advertisement in yesterday's paper"

COOKING is a science in which discoveries are constantly being made. Even the most colorless food staple is liable to have the spotlight turned upon it. Take salt pork for example—wouldn't it surprise you to know that it is a wonderful basic ingredient for a savory tomato sauce?

It is not necessary to buy cook-books to keep up with new culinary secrets and recipes. By means of newspaper advertisements, they come to your regularly from the kitchens of food manufacturers and distributors. And because these recipes are tested over and over again before they are released to the public, you can follow their instructions with complete confidence.

As you study these recipes you will be impressed by these facts—they are appropriate for the time of the year in which they appear; they call for inexpensive ingredients; they are in harmony with modern rules for health and nutrition; and finally, they are not difficult to follow.

Yes, it pays to read food advertisements for the facts they contain. It pays to read the recipes for new ideas. You'll be wise if you cut them out for your recipe file. But above all you'll be delighted if you try one of those recipes right away.

BARON REBUILDS
"SPITE" TOWER

Air Mail Fliers Refuse to Use Harrisburg Port Because of Hazard.

Harrisburg, May 14—Baron Bestick rebuilt his wooden tower on the edge of the Harrisburg airport to a height of nearly a hundred feet Sunday and further complicated the air mail station here.

Residents of the neighborhood were surprised to see the structure spring up again at the same spot as Mrs. Bestick's property, where it collapsed Thursday during a wind storm.

Baron Bestick could not be reached for a statement Sunday night.

In the meantime, TWA flyers, carrying the air mail on a renewed contract between Los Angeles and Newark, passed over Harrisburg without landing to pick up mail here. Officials of the company have stated that they will not allow their planes to land here on account of the tower situation until further notice.

Casey Optimistic

Daniel N. Casey, secretary of the Capital Landing Field company, said that he believed that the TWA company was interested in continuing to use the Harrisburg field, as it had invested a considerable sum of money when it used the field before the service was discontinued two months ago. Mr. Casey said that the TWA officials would probably await the outcome of the court case pending against the baron before announcing their decision.

The case against the baron has been postponed the second time, and he is now scheduled to appear for a hearing in York on Thursday on a charge of maintaining a public nuisance. He has posted $2,000 bail pending the hearing.
